How Is Your Heart?

Is your pulse weak, too slow, too fast, or does it skip a beat?

Do you have shortness of breath, weak or hungry spells, fainting, smothering or choking spells, palpitation, fluttering, pains around the heart, in side and shoulder; or hurt when lying on left side?

If you have any of these symptoms your heart is weak or diseased and cannot get better without assistance.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure strengthens weak hearts, and rarely ever fails to cure heart disease. Try it, and see how quickly you will find relief.

"About January 1st, 1902, I took down with weakness and dizziness, and gradually grew worse. I was told by my family physician that my case was hopeless. My neighbors and family had given me up to die. My limbs and body were swollen to such a degree that normal size, and water had collected around my heart. For at least three months I had to sit propped up in bed to keep from smothering. I sent for five bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and by the time I had taken them all I was entirely cured. I feel better than I have for twenty years, and I am able to do any kind of work or my farm. My attending physician told me that if it hadn't been for Dr. Miles' Heart Cure I would now be in my grave."

L. T. CURRY, Wilmore, Ky.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the bottle will benefit. If it fails he will refund your money.

CEYLON TEA

Don't let your grocer tell you that so-called "English Breakfast" tea is as good as Ceylon tea. It is not, for the latter has taken its place. Discriminating housewives who know good tea are gradually preventing this practice of substitution. Don't take poor tea when you can get the best.

HOW TO MAKE IT—Use half the quantity as of other tea, fresh boiling water. Steep four to five minutes.

MASSACRE IN ST. PETERSBURG

Provoked Sharp Comment.

GORKY AND THE POLICE

GOSSIP OVER APPOINTMENT OF

HAGGARD TO VISIT AMERICA.

Peage Case That Will Interest Americans—World's Congress of Baptists

—Free Church Movement.

Special Correspondence of The Evening Star.

LONDON, February 2, 1905.

The massacre in St. Petersburg have produced universal indignation in London, and staid and sober citizens who have sympathy with violence or revolution are saying that if the czar and the grand dukes were assassinated no one would regret their death. The feeling of sympathy with the artisans of St. Petersburg is deepest among the working classes, and already a movement is on foot for expressing sympathy with the victims of the massacre of last Sunday. What action will be taken has not been settled, but it is expected that the workmen's organizations will arrange a grand demonstration at Hyde Park.

I believe that steps have been taken to secure international action on the part of the workers of Europe in sympathy with their fellows in Russia. Already communications have been exchanged between certain of the British leaders of labor and their French, German and Belgian counterparts, and it is told that there is a general conviction that this grim business in St. Petersburg should not be regarded as an isolated incident, but as a strike affecting the interests of the great army of European workers. The present idea is to hold as soon as possible an international meeting of the workers of all nations, for the purpose of securing the assistance, and of warning the Russian bureaucracy that a persistence in the policy of repression will provoke the resentment of the whole of Europe.

I have interviewed several Russians in London who are in sympathy with the workers in St. Petersburg. These men are of course, strongly hostile to the existing regime, and are generally men of very exaggerated views. They are all, however, sympathetic, but generally they regard the crime as sealing the fate of the imperialistic system, and they are all in favor of the Russian revolution.

The Russian Workers.

One of the most trusted of the Russian leaders in this country said today: "A new spirit has been born in the Russian workers—a spirit that will in the end prove itself stronger than the brutalities and selfishness of the bureaucrats." The feeling of the Russian colony here is quite as strong against the dower-gazaria as it is against the czar. The feeling is that the crime is a blow to the Russian people, and that the Russian people will not be the evil genius of the emperor.

According to a correspondent who has been in contact with the members of the Russian revolutionary group in London are indulging in very violent talk about the reprisals that will be taken upon the ministers of the czar. They say that last Sunday, "A clean sweep," they say, is to be made of the whole royal family, grand dukes and princes, and this is to be followed by the execution of the ministers. They say that the Russian people are in touch with the court. In fact, their purpose will be to repeat the massacre of Belgrade, a coup d'etat which will be effected by the Russian people.

The Russian revolutionaries are ministers responsible for the worst excesses of the present system will also, they say, suffer the extreme penalty which rebellion is meted out to them. They say that the being reserved for Prince Mirsky, whose benevolent attitude, they assert, has been responsible for the Russian revolutionaries proving liberal thought to express itself and liberty to hold up its head only that tyranny might have a better excuse for its Maxim Gorky's Exploits.

Maxim Gorky is not for the first time in his life receiving the attention of the Russian police. Not long ago, becoming apprehensive that his literary influence might prove more baneful than even that of Count Tolstoy, they ordered him to leave St. Petersburg for Nijni Novgorod.

He decided to go, instead, to Moscow, where his literary friends were gathered, and arranged to give him an ovation. He was away unhindered, but the police knew what they were doing. They sent some of their men to follow him, and when he started for his train, they stopped him.

He was told that he had already started leaving him behind. Nor was that all.

FOREST PHARMACY

SOME REMEDIES NOT GENERALLY

KNOWN SAVE TO WOODSMEN.

A Febrifuge Like Quinine From the

Pines of Canada—Pine Apple of the North.

Lachine (Can.) Correspondence New York Sun.

LACHINE, Canada.—There is a pharmacy of the woods, and some of its remedies are wonderful in efficacy. Few people in the outside world know that there is produced in the pine woods a tonic and febrifuge greatly resembling quinine in taste and efficiency. But the lumbermen know it and owe much to its properties when run down in health after seven months of a diet of pork and beans, bread, tea and frozen pork.

The sovereign remedy in these cases is pine apple. Up among the branches, near to where a dry twig shows that the great tree has just passed its acme of growth, a drab-colored fungus of a rude conical shape, generally about half as big as a man's head, clings to the bark. This is the pine apple. It is a large, fleshy

Some woodmen use it as a powder, chips out from it being dried at the fire and rubbed down by hand. Others use an infusion prepared by boiling it in water.

It is a tonic, acts gently as a diuretic and feverishness rapidly. It produces violent effects, and is used to excess, and it is said to bring on insanity if used for a long time continuously.

When changes of weather are frequent and the trapper or lumberman suffers from a cough he seeks a remedy in a balsam made from the smoking bark of the pine sometimes inches long and within these is a fragrant, thin gum. This contains
